

THE FUTURE OF SLEEP IS HERE

A mattress like no other

Space technology has transformed life on Earth – in ways we had never thought possible

We are proud that TEMPUR® Material was born from this rich heritage. Originally based on NASA's innovative material (later called memory foam) developed to absorb the G-force on astronauts during space flight, TEMPUR® Material has been refined and enhanced to help improve the sleep of people all around the world. The ingenuity of NASA continues to inspire our scientists who are continually evolving our unique TEMPUR® Material as the ultimate balance of comfort and support. Today, TEMPUR® remains the only mattress and pillow brand that has been inducted into the United States Space Technology Hall of Fame®.

TEMPUR® Material is unlike anything on Earth

The moment you lie down feels like pure magic as the cells instantly respond to your body's shape, weight and warmth, precisely adapting and aligning to every inch of you. Its proven pressure relief gives your body total comfort and support. It can also help to reduce tossing and turning. It absorbs motion from your partner, so you are less likely to disturb one another. How TEMPUR® Material works is complex, but what it does is simple: help you to get that truly restful sleep.

TEMPUR® Mattresses are made at our production centre in Denmark, a country with a long-respected heritage of pioneering science and technology

Danish design is also revered throughout the world – widely considered a distinctive mark of quality with clean lines that embrace the simplicity of nature. Our products perfectly reflect these characteristics, offering the perfect fusion of form, function and quality.

We are very proud to have achieved the no. 1 rank in consumer satisfaction across multiple countries
